R

eflections from the Curatage

Well, so far this summer has been a mixed bag! We've had a heat wave, followed by storms, and now, a period of colder, wetter weather. The garden is lush and thriving and I'm managing to avoid lugging around watering cans to water the containers.

Preoccupation with the weather is a very British phenomenon and the subject is often used as a conversation tool when we make small talk. There is a myth that the Romans left Britain because they were fed up with cooler, wetter weather. I have some sympathy when I see holiday makers making the best of things whilst struggling with wet tents, children and inclement weather.

We sometimes take our rain and provision of water for granted. It's perhaps only when we hear about hosepipe bans or water companies in crisis that we pay more attention to where our water is coming from. The bible story of the Samaritan woman who went to the well to collect her water (John 4. 5-30) is one which still reminds us of how fortunate we are in the UK to be able to have water piped into our homes. The woman's encounter with Christ at the well was one which quickly developed into a discussion about her brokenness, lifestyle choices and how she could break away from the barriers she had carefully put up. We all want for things in life, perhaps a new car, or a better job or the most up-to-date technology, but these things are only a temporary fix. Christ offers us all, whoever and wherever we are, a relationship with Him which gives us permanence and a sense of belonging. Christ sees through our superficial desires and offers us living water, where we will be sustained through a constant flow of grace which will quench our spiritual thirst.

Throughout the scriptures then, water is a powerful image. It is that which refreshes and satisfies and sustains. This is why water is used during baptism services. It is salvation and the glory of God. It is abundant life. It is the presence of God with us. It is a force that works in our lives in just the way we need. That is just the start of what Jesus offered to the woman at the well, and it is what he offers to each one of us every day. All that remains is for us to say the words of the Samaritan woman. "Please, give me some of that water."

Leckhampton Village Hall was completed in 1897. It was listed as a Grade 2 building a hundred years later. Over the years the hall has undergone various works to modernise and extend it. It has now reached a point where it requires some major work to bring it up to date with the requirements of a community venue in the 21st Century.

The Hall is used by a wide variety of groups including the Leckhampton Players, Brownies, keep fit classes, Pilates, art and dance groups, Parish Council meetings, the Motherhood Society as well as being available for hire for parties and other events. It forms an important role within the community. In order for it to be able to continue to fulfil this role a new extension has been planned at the side of the hall. The extension will include new cloakrooms and provide better disabled access. There are also plans to convert the existing cloakrooms into storage/changing rooms and to modernise the kitchen. Plans can be viewed on the website leckhamptonvillagehall.co.uk. The Leckhampton Village Hall committee will be hugely grateful for any donations, no matter how big or small. There is also a 'Buy a Brick' scheme where a brick can be bought either for yourself, your family or in memory of a loved one. This can also be done on the website or contact joeykwilson@aol.com to obtain a form.

Further fundraising events will be held throughout the Autumn:

The History Of Leckhampton Church

The last remaining copies of the Church History have just been sold and a new edition is in preparation. The first version was printed in 1987 by the Reverend George Smith using his offset litho equipment. Today's state-of-the-art version will be printed digitally by a company based in Watford. The text has been extensively revised and includes much newly discovered information, complemented by over 50 illustrations. The book should be ready later this month, at the modest price of £3.

We hope this will help to let a few more people in the community know about the youth work we are doing.

Could you join our youth team?

We are looking for some more team to help us run youth work across South Cheltenham. We need some more team for our Tuesday evening youth work with ages 11-16. We would love to have at least one member from each Church in the South Cheltenham Team. Most of our team for this join us bi-weekly, but there is some flexibility on this. We are also hoping to start a new group for ages 16-19, as well as exploring opportunity for schools work. We also run Sunday morning youth sessions in some Churches. So there are plenty of different styles of youth work that you could explore. Whatever your age or talents, if you are interested in exploring joining our youth team, we would love to hear from you. Please contact Abbie, our Youth Worker, who would love to meet with you and discuss the best fit for you. All of our potential youth team are informally interviewed, safer recruited, and have relevant DBS checks, before joining.

Parish Giving Scheme

A great way to support St. Peter's is through the parish giving scheme, which enables you to give, and for St. Peter's to receive, a monthly donation towards the mission and ministry of the church and parish. This is administered through the Diocese of Gloucester, so every penny comes back to St. Peter's and is gift-aided also. This provides the church with a regular income and a means with which to plan ahead. It is especially important in 'times like these' when services, bookings and income are reduced. For further information, email Peter Marlow: peter.marlow@softcopy.co.uk or check the Stewardship page of the church website: www.stpetersleck.org.

You can now enrol in the Parish Giving Scheme by phoning 0333 002 1271 to set up a regular donation. All you need is your bank account details and our parish code LKPT.

You can also support St. Peter's by making an online donation at:
<https://cafdonate.cafonline.org/7930>

There is still the opportunity to make a donation towards the new furniture which is part of the reordering!

The Messenger, August 2023

What happens when someone meets a spiritual director?

Dr Joe Neary, a retired GP living in Birdlip, is a spiritual director and teaches on the Gloucestershire Spirituality Course. Joe uses a fictional example to illustrate what happens during a spiritual direction session.

“A woman comes to see me. Let’s call her Harriet. She rings at the door and I show her into the space that I have prepared. A candle is lit on the table. A Bible lies beside it. These things symbolize that our conversation is not simply between the two of us, but a third person is also present.

“Harriet starts to tell me about her daily journey. How she attempts to get closer to God. She sees the pain and suffering in other people and is drawn to them in compassion. She rarely prays in the way that the church teaches, but experiences joy and serenity in the countryside and woodlands. In these times she feels drawn into a profound mystery and a beauty that is beyond words.

“At other times, Harriet feels that she can never be good enough. She is afflicted by abusive experiences from her earlier life, some of them from her earliest childhood. This has left her with a legacy of a deep sense of inadequacy. This inadequacy, often accompanied by guilt, freezes her into immobility.

“I sit quietly, listening to Harriet as she describes her feelings, her joys, and her pain. I gently validate the serenity that she experiences in nature as awareness of God, and a profound moment of prayer. I suggest that she looks back over her day every evening to pick up such moments and to celebrate them. Equally gently, I challenge her feelings of guilt. These obstruct her journey toward the sacred. So often, I find that guilt about real or imagined sin lies behind an inability to welcome God more deeply into a person’s life. Naming this guilt for what it is can be deeply liberating and healing.

“The task of spiritual direction is not one of giving direction, paradoxically enough. It is more one of directing attention. Attention to those moments of the sacred in a person’s life, validating and encouraging them.

“I often describe my ministry as ‘Realising the Sacred’ in people’s lives. Realising in two senses; the sense of recognising sacred moments, and also the sense of making real, or actualising, the sacred in our lives. This is spiritual direction.”

If you’re interested in finding out more about spiritual direction, you can contact Pauline Godfrey on pgodrey@glosdioc.org.uk

‘In Tune’ organ and music campaign

Music has been at the heart of Gloucester Cathedral for almost 1,000 years, with the organ as its heartbeat. The 'In Tune' campaign aims to raise £3 million by 2026, which will fund the refurbishment and renewal of the Cathedral's famous organ, as well as enabling the Cathedral to further expand music education to hundreds of young people. Sustainable church flowers in Minchinhampton

The Eco Church groups from Holy Trinity Minchinhampton and St Mary's Tetbury hosted a nature-friendly flower arranging demonstration called 'Arrange for the future'.

Jennie South and Rosemary Bailey, two Eco Church representatives, organised the event to encourage their local churches to use seasonal, local and nature-friendly arrangements for church.

Beth Bruce-Gardner, Deanery Eco Ambassador (sustainable flowers), gave a demonstration to 24 participants from two deaneries. The event was incredibly popular with a long waiting list of people hoping to learn more and try out the skills that Beth demonstrated. It is hoped that there will be more workshops in the future due to the amount of interest.

Rosemary said, "Beth was amazing and so inspiring. We all had a go ourselves and were also stars in arranging our flowers with no oasis – chicken wire was to the fore." Oasis, the foam that is usually used to hold flowers in an arrangement, is non-biodegradable, non-recyclable and toxic for both humans and animals.

"There was no plastic and there were no air miles. The beauty of the flowers themselves was a real act of tribute and praise to our God and a celebration of creation."

Just pledging one hour a week to making changes towards a greener church will start to make a difference – why not ask your PCC to register as an Eco Church?
