Ordinary Time

At this time of year we move into what the church calls 'Ordinary Time' when the colours in our churches turn 'green'.

If you read the English definition of 'ordinary' you could be forgiven for thinking that these weeks and months were less important, but nothing could be further from the truth!

Ordinary Time is called such because the weeks are numbered. The Latin word ordinalis, which refers to numbers in a series, stems from the Latin word ordo, from which we get the English word order. Therefore, Ordinary Time is in fact 'Ordered Time' and refers to the ordered life of the Church outside of the great seasons of Incarnation (Advent, Christmas and Epiphany) and Resurrection (Lent, Easter and Pentecost). This period of time is often referred to as the season of Creation, when we can reflect on 'growth', both in our lives and in the world around us.

As human beings we are different from all other creatures and living things in the natural world. But as much as that is true, we are also fundamentally part of the natural world. All creatures and living things were made by our loving God; they were blessed by God; and they were given into our care. Humans and the natural world live and move together.

We live in unprecedented times!

Since the pandemic restrictions, there has been an unprecedented rise in fossil fuel consumption and greenhouse gas emissions; industrialisation and air pollution; deforestation and habitat destruction; global warming; over-harvesting and soil degradation; water pollution and contamination of our rivers; over-fishing and marine eco-system depletion; to name but a few things.

There seems to be an ever growing rift between humans and the rest of creation. In simple terms, we are poisoning the earth and, by the very nature of what we're doing, poisoning ourselves. Slowly but surely, we are becoming alienated from our beautiful Eden, Mother Earth.

Our world is hurting because collectively we are making choices that place our environment under huge stress; part of which is producing and consuming at a rate that is unsustainable and unhealthy.

I wonder if this 'Creation' season is therefore a time for each one of us to reassess the choices we are making? This country is, by far, not the worst contributor to this unfolding global catastrophe, but this should not lead us into complacency or stop us from making a collective difference.

Humanity and the natural world live and move together and have their being in God. When we stop caring for our world, we stop caring for one another.

This is far from an Ordinary Time in which we live!

Rev'd Gary

New Appointment

I am delighted to announce that we have appointed a new Vicar for Pip & Jim's and St. Stephen's. Subject to the usual DBS checks, Rev Ruth Edmonds will be licensed by Bishop Robert on Sunday 8th September at 3pm at Pip & Jim's. Ruth is currently serving in the Lichfield Diocese and will be moving with her husband, James, and 14 month old daughter, Amara, over the summer. Please keep them all in your prayers as they prepare to move to South Cheltenham.

Revd Gary.

'Notes from the Director of Music'

Having enjoyed the rich musical season in May covering Ascension, Pentecost and Trinity Sundays, we move into the extended Trinity season in June and beyond. The music sung by the choir this month will include established repertoire by early composers (Exultate Justi by Viadana, and Hide not thou thy face from us, O Lord by Farrant, for example) alongside some other items not performed at St. Peter's before. Towards the end of the month, the choir will sing two beautiful anthems - both with their perceived simplicity perhaps hiding the highly emotive music perfectly mirroring the texts for which they are been written. One of these pieces is 'View me Lord, a work of thine' by Richard Lloyd. The other is the stunning 'Crossing the Bar' by Parry. The perfect way in which the deeply moving words have been put to hymn-like music in two verses never fails to move many who listen to it! The other anthem we will perform this month is by Malcom Archer, at various points Director of Music at Wells Cathedral, St. Paul's Cathedral and Head of Chapel Music at Winchester College, and is titled 'Grow in Grace'. This is a particularly lovely anthem, new to the choir, and we very much hope you enjoy listening to it.

The organ voluntaries vary this month from items by Wesley (Choral Song & Fugue, and later in the month Andante in G), Christopher Tambling, a modern composer who has written a 'Postlude on a theme by Gibbons' (an early composer), and two other pieces by modern composers. One is entitled 'Fanfare' by the Welsh composer William Mathias (we have performed a couple of his anthems this year, which were both new to the choir), and the other is 'Paeon' by Kenneth Leighton. A 'paeon' is a song of praise, and Kenneth Leighton has a unique style within the church/cathedral music tradition - one of the few composers that you can usually instantly recognise due to the unique, often angular, harmonic writing and highly rhythmic passages. It is a genuine expression of 'joy' by the composer, but his style is not for everyone (!). I give you fair warning that it is both loud and dissonant all the way through! Do head off for your coffee/tea in the Cottages nice and early at the end of the service if you aren't a fan of this sort of 20th century musical style!

The final thing to highlight from a musical point of view this month is that the choir is singing evensong at Gloucester Cathedral on Saturday 15th June. The service is at 4.30pm, and all are welcome. We are singing the Smith responses, Sumsion in A canticles, and Mathias 'As truly as God is our Father' (which we are also singing at St. Peter's at the end of May for Trinity Sunday!).

This is not something the choir has done before, and whilst a few of our regular members are away for the service - everyone is excited to be doing it, and it is certainly something we would like to schedule as a regular activity (singing at Cathedrals). Do come and support us if you can.

The Archbishop of York has praised the work of church-magazine editors. Archbishop Cottrell said: "Even in a digital world, paper based communications can help build bridges for local churches. I'm deeply appreciative of the effort put in by numerous church magazine editors."

Request from Helen Pearne

You may or may not know that I had two heart attacks in 2017, and was diagnosed with SCAD (Spontaneous Coronary Artery Dissection). I have received a lot of support from the Beat SCAD charity since. In particular, they have provided me with invaluable advice and information about SCAD, which was hard to find when I was first diagnosed as it is a very rare condition which affects otherwise healthy people.

James and I are doing a sponsored walk together in Leicestershire on 15th June in support of the Beat SCAD charity:

Film night at St Peter's - Tuesday 9th July @ 7:00pm

Come and see 'The Letter - a message for our earth' in St Peter's on Tuesday 9th July!

No, not the 1940s film with Bette Davis, but the 2022 story of a journey to Rome of people from very different faiths and backgrounds to discuss the climate crisis.

In 2015, Pope Francis wrote a papal letter called 'Laudato si' which encourages everyone to care for the earth - our common home - and care for the poor. He outlines what is happening to the earth with pollution, loss of biodiversity and global inequality, before discussing the gospel of creation and the human roots of the ecological crisis. He advocates an ecological approach that appreciates everything on the earth is connected. We must realise this and not act in silos as if our activities are all independent.

In this powerful documentary film, Pope Francis invites representatives of indigenous people (the Amazon), the poor (Senegal), the young (India) and wildlife (Hawi'i) to come to Rome and then on to Assisi. They share their experiences of climate change and discuss the implications for all people. It brings to life the struggle by many people in the world who are submerged - literally by the effects of climate change.

Come and see the film, then read 'Laudato si' and its sequel 'Laudate deum'!

ST PETER'S LECKHAMPTON REORDERING PROJECT

February 2022 - March 2024

The reordering project at St Peter's Leckhampton has finally completed! Long in planning, work started in February 2022 and was completed in March 2024. The total cost was £160,000 as detailed below. The funding came from generous donations, grants and reserves built up over many years from legacies. Our Reserves are still healthy but we are looking to rebuild them to fund more projects. It's still possible to donate to the Reordering Fund, perhaps by funding one of the fine acolyte chairs (two have already been funded and dedication plaques provided). Please contact me if you would like further details.

Parish Giving Scheme

A great way to support St. Peter's is through the parish giving scheme, which enables you to give, and for St. Peter's to receive, a monthly donation towards the mission and ministry of the church and parish. This is administered through the Diocese of Gloucester, so every penny comes back to St. Peter's and is gift-aided also. This provides the church with a regular income and a means with which to plan ahead. It is especially important in 'times like these' when services, bookings and income are reduced. For further information, email Peter Marlow: peter.marlow@softcopy.co.uk or check the Stewardship page of the church website: www.stpetersleck.org.

You can now enrol in the Parish Giving Scheme by phoning 0333 002 1271 to set up a regular donation. All you need is your bank account details and our parish code LKPT.

You can also support St. Peter's by making an online donation at:

St Peter's bellringers recognised on Bell Sunday

Bell Sunday is an annual opportunity to celebrate the contribution of bell ringers to the life of the church, and to acknowledge the part that bells play in worship and community life all the year round.

At St Peter's, we celebrated during the morning service on Sunday 12 May, with Rev Gary Grady thanking Stuart Tomlinson, the Bell Captain, for leading the bellringers as well as maintaining the bells in the tower.

Stuart recognised that learning to ring bells is rewarding but not easy! About ten years ago, ART (Association of Ringing Teachers) set up a five level framework to help learners progress through to ringing Quarter Peals.

Six St Peter's learners were presented with certificates and applauded by the congregation for the progress they are making in developing their skills. Brad Coates and Jacob Coates, Level 1 – Bell Handling, Malcolm Ware, Level 2 – Foundation Skills, Keith Reading Level 3 – Introduction to Change Ringing, Gilly Whittingham and Marika Hortop Level 4 - Novice Change Ringer.

Bell Sunday is always kept on a Sunday close to St Dunstan's feast day. He is known as the patron saint of bell ringers due to his experimentation in the early forging of bells in the 900s and his encouragement of the use of bells in parish churches. Today, the day is designed to raise awareness of bell ringing, to emphasise the importance of the sound of bells in our communities and how it can help bring church and community together, and to strengthen relationships between church leaders and bell ringers.

Bells are usually rung from inside the church, but can be heard for miles around. At Leckhampton we are fortunate that bellringers can also be seen in action in the church, rather than being hidden up the bell tower.

As well as ringing before church services, the bellringers can be heard at weddings and important national and international events, for example for the coronation of King Charles III. Listen out for bells ringing out across the country on 6 June 2024 to mark the 80th Anniversary of D Day.

The Messenger, June 2024

“God had always been there, even when I thought I was struggling alone, there had always been a way through. And through that, I wanted to give back.”

Yvonne Penn, a dedicated member of St Michael and All Angels Church in Bishop’s Cleeve, has recently taken on the position of Church Engagement and Fundraising Officer for Christian Aid, covering the regions of Gloucestershire, Bristol, Wiltshire, and the Channel Islands. She tells us how her faith brought her to this role.

“My connection to church began at the age of two when I was taken to church on the shoulders of a Church Army sister. My father was a churchwarden and Mum helped to run various events and women’s groups. I went to Sunday school, sang in the church choir and became a leader in the attached Brownie pack. But despite regular attendance and knowing my Bible stories, volunteering with youth groups and being on the PCC, I don’t think I really appreciated being a Christian until much later in my life.

“I was a single parent and there were times when I struggled with life’s commitments. I had to have a cancer operation in 2009 and it was the fellowship love and prayers of my church community which helped me find the strength to live through months of procedures and to come out smiling and ready to serve.

“For me, being part of the extended church family became so important – in the quiet, alone times, I found strength from the Bible and exploring the meaning of Jesus’ words, and then the other times when the phone would ring, or someone would call to encourage and support me. I began to see that God had always been there, even when I thought I was struggling alone, there had always been a way through. And through that, I wanted to give back.

“When I moved to my present home in Gloucestershire, I started to work with the wider local community by becoming a Parish Councillor, working on community events and activities. I try to connect this with my church life whenever I can, so that the local church – St Michael and All Angels in Bishop’s Cleeve – is seen as an important part of our village’s life.”

“In my working life, I took early retirement from teaching and worked in church administration and for a charity before moving on to work for Christian Aid. I’m a fundraiser, but I also concentrate on engagement and speaking about our work, projects and campaigns on vital issues.”

You can find out more about Christian Aid events near you at facebook.com/ChristianAidWest

Church of England holds first Racial Justice Board meeting

The Church of England in the West Midlands had its inaugural Racial Justice Board meeting on Thursday 2 May.

Representatives from Birmingham, Coventry, Gloucester, Hereford, Lichfield, and Worcester congregated to tackle racism and promote racial justice. The collaborative project, a first in the Church of England, aims to address racism both within the Church and in society.

In a joint statement, Anglican Bishops in the West Midlands said: “Racism has no place in the Church of England, but we must face the fact that it still exists... we strongly affirm the work of the Archbishops’ Anti-Racism Taskforce and the report ‘From Lament to Action’ ... We acknowledge our part in past and present failures and recognise the challenges it presents. We wholeheartedly support its recommendations and look forward to taking them forward with energy and determination.”

Racism is condemned as a sin that goes against the essence of God’s creation. Since 2021, discussions and networks have expanded across the region, resulting in a joint bid for national Church funding. This funding enables the recruitment of a diverse team of 11, with the Revd Dr Evie Vernon O’Brien appointed as the new regional Director of Racial Justice.

If you would like to be part of this work, please do get in touch with Lucy Taylor at ltaylor@glosdioc.org.uk
